Westerland • February 24, 2021 — The ALPEN-SYLT Night Express success story continues: In 2021, travelers will again be able to travel the more than 1,000-kilometer route from the North Sea island of Sylt across the country to their destination in Salzburg (Austria) without traffic jams and stress, in an environmentally friendly manner and with the best possible protection against infection, or, for the first time, to Lake Constance (Radolfzell and Constance). Likewise, travelers from the south can reach coasts and islands in northern Germany comfortably on board in the opposite direction.

The night train sent in the past summer of the private railroad enterprise RDC again on the rails offers starting from this season the experience night train both for passengers with slim travel budget (seat car tickets starting from 29 €) and for travelers, who would like to breathe freely on the way and book themselves their own private compartment in the couchette car, in the comfortable sleeping car or in the sleeping car deluxe. No third parties enter their own private compartment during the entire journey, so that protection against infection is guaranteed and passengers do not have to wear a mask. Masks are compulsory when boarding and disembarking, in the corridors or (as in IC/ICE) when traveling in the public seating car.

"We used the winter to implement many great suggestions from our enthusiastic night train community. Thus we bind with season start starting from Pentecost also the regions Stuttgart and Bodensee, offer many new stops along the distances and an attractive timetable, with which in the north direct connection to Copenhagen, to the Baltic Sea islands Rügen and Fehmarn or the cruise ports Kiel, Rostock and Stralsund exists and in the south in one hour Zurich can be reached, said Markus Hunkel, managing director RDC AUTOZUG Sylt GmbH.
